

LIGHTHOUSE

BY BCGIANS, FOR BCGIANS

FOREWORD

It'd been a long time since we started schooling online! Now we are finally back to our schools, back to our classrooms and back to our benches. Our interval of patience has reached its end and we are hopeful that our ships float on the oceans of positivity, courage, strength and knowledge buoyantly. During the lockdown times almost all of us have faced hardships and struggles in getting our work done. We attempted to change our workflows with courage and we can now proudly say that we were definitely able to cope up with changing times.

Now it's time to again face a new breeze of upcoming challenges as the disease is still sweeping around. It's time for all of us to keep in mind to follow all the safety norms while we work towards attaining the same offline lifestyles. Follow along in the below sections of the newsletter to find more about student's views on the changing life and their feelings for coming back to school after all the distress!

THE NEW-OLD EXPERIENCE

At first, I was a bit anxious to attend the school offline. I gave it a try and went to school. As soon as I entered my classroom, the past memories flooded in and things started exhilarating. There were some restrictions, but I could see that everything started to become normal. The school was amazing as I could interact now face to face with my friends and teachers. I could also feel my concentration levels increasing. I wish that the small restrictions could be eliminated as the situation gets better and normal so that I could relish and relive the memories of school.

A BLESSING OR A CURSE

During this coronavirus time, as a student, I had many advantages and disadvantages. I was initially happy about the virus because there was a sudden lockdown all over India with no schools and colleges. I had a very relaxed life initially, enjoying all day, playing games, watching movies and then I realised that there was nothing much to do, I was caught in a vicious cycle of doing the same things again and again; sitting just at home and anxiously waiting for unlocking situation to meet friends and relatives and then slowly started the online classes, initially online classes felt better, where there was a complete change in the situation of class atmosphere. After a month we came to know the disadvantages and advantages of this kind of education, that this virus is not a blessing but a foreshadow of the students' further life to adjust to this Mode of education. The shift was totally different but now getting back to school was full of emotions, it was different, though our class was split in half. Everyone was wearing a mask and maintaining social distance. We could not play and 'go crazy'. Even then returning to school was cool although the breaks were shortened and not being allowed to hug our friends and teachers but eventually, it makes me happy returning to school as I think interaction with my peers in whichever possible manner may be a part of the education process and we must learn and adjust to any situations that come our way with great spirit and enthusiasm.

WAITING WITH BATED BREATH... ...FOR THE END OF PANDEMIC

As a result of the scary crisis, students had to defencelessly make major life changes such as transitioning to online school. It was not until the lockdown happened that I realized just how treasured school is to me. My school is an important part of my life and suddenly not going to school anymore was a drastic change. I missed the liveliness of the classroom, seeing my friends, and indulging in extra-curricular activities. Although we're back in school now, sadly, the sense of normalcy isn't. We still have to take precautions and follow protocols. Rather than studying at home, I prefer studying in a classroom setting where I can interact with my peers and teachers. Desperately looking forward to things going back to normal, I miss going on trips and making new memories, interacting with others without having to take precautions, participating in co-curricular activities and competitions, and finally the 'finish' of the pandemic!

BACK TO SCHOOL...

Did you hear?
Our School is reopening soon!!!
So now it's time for a haircut in the barber's room.
For two long years, we were stuffed in a chamber
But now it's time for the dying flower to prosper.
During lockdown, the school was like an abandoned beehive,
Now when everyone comes together, the school will come alive.
Giggles and fun with friends, so much I missed 'Oh boy!'
The board, the benches and classrooms
Will soon be dancing with joy.
During online school we used to miss
The ring of the school bell and the tiffin's aromatic smell.
Carrying a backpack and teacher's pat on the back.
During the Offline School, we didn't have
Online quiz answers to crack,
And presenting our screen which sometimes went black,
Assignments of which we had to keep a track.
Now that the school is starting,
Precautions will be taken into consideration
As told by the government of our nation.
So parents should send their kids without any hesitation,
As children will soon have their vaccinations.

BACK TO SCHOOL: DOING THINGS DIFFERENTLY AFTER THE PANDEMIC

After almost two years, we went back to school. I was very excited to meet my friends after such a long time. The day I heard that the schools were about to reopen and a hybrid system would be put in place, I thought that it would be a new and fun experience. Although maintaining social distance was hard in the beginning, it is way better than working on computers which had several harmful side-effects on our health. I could understand the lessons taught in online classes, but it was easier when I had a face-to-face interaction with my teachers in class. The offline classes had a human touch to it, seeing our teachers and classmates brought back a sense of normalcy. I feel more active and energized in class now.

Even though we have a lot of restrictions to follow, and no matter how much I wish these restrictions were lifted, I understand its relevance for the safety of my classmates and myself from the ongoing pandemic. I just can't wait for the day where my friends and I can sit beside each other sharing our tiffins, playing and laughing together without the restraints of the masks.

DID YOU KNOW FACTS?

- The City Montessori School in Lucknow, India, is the largest school in the world in terms of number of students.
- France has the shortest school year of no more than 36 weeks and also the longest school day of 8 hours.
- Children in Germany receive a special cone called Schultüte, which is filled with pens, pencils, books and snacks, but the catch is they can only open it after starting school.
- In Holland, children start school on the day they turn 4, which means that there's always someone new in the class. Fun, isn't it?

MY SCHOOL MEMORIES

School time is an important chapter building human character. It all starts with a morning routine, stumbling to dress up, guzzling on breakfast and sprinting to school. Then reciting school prayers in drowsiness and clutching the last bench to scandal with friends. Of course, recurrently counting on minutes till break, or exceeding through corridors and hoping not to be late for Inter-house tournaments. As it is reasonably said "We don't value what we have until we lose it." This proves so true in relevance to school. Even after possessing all the resources to attain online education, the hidden pleasure of offline school keeps tormenting our minds.

School days are such inevitably divine days we always are thankful for! Teachers' immense reinforcements are palpable. Undeniably, our buddies without whom these days would never be fun filled escapades. Did we miss anything? Which was the thing you miss the most about school? Let us know in your Feedbacks....

SCHOOL CORNER

Life Happens....

22 Nov 2021, was the day we were able to get back physically to school after a long year and a half. It felt as if I was walking into a Brave New World! My excitement could not be contained as I marched into the school gates. The first encounter of meeting our students face to face in the classroom, was an emotional one! I realised how much I had missed the regular banter of these loved ones and the pandemonium that I was facing, was for once, making me feel ecstatic as if life had begun again! Although in masks, the students were radiating such positivity that it is beyond words to describe. Nothing can beat the charm of being face to face with our students in the classrooms, as we journey with them, get to feel their emotions and be a part of their life. Classrooms are but dull vacant places without them...and at no cost would I want to experience such void again. Choked with emotions when I first saw them, all I could utter was -welcome back dear ones, we missed you!!

Message from the Principal

Dear students,

In the last year, the thing that we most looked forward to is welcoming our beloved students back to the portals of the school. We have been longing to hear the hallways reverberate with the sounds of your chatter and laughter and see the smiling faces. I am sure most of you also must have been impatiently waiting to get back to school and be back among your friends and have fun. Finally the time has arrived when we will be welcoming you back to school!!

Mankind as a whole has been through trying times and am proud of each one of you for the patience and resilience you have shown during the past year. It hasn't been easy. As a school, we are taking the utmost precaution and care to ensure your safety. In times like these, it is of absolute importance that you follow all instructions and norms to the time. If you consciously practice all the norms for staying safe it will also ensure safety of classmates, students and staff around you.

You must know that you are surrounded by well-meaning and caring people. Your teachers are all committed and concerned individuals wanting to help and guide you to achieve your full potential. Feel free to approach teachers or the CARE staff or me in case you have any difficulties or issues.

We are so glad that we will see you again! Stay positive, have fun and do your best!!! Welcome back!!!
